I'm created in the image of God. Today I choose to think, talk and act like God. I'm born to succeed. I will not fail God, my family or any other relationship. I will fulfill His purpose in my life today.

I choose to think the thoughts of God. I will only dwell on thoughts that will bless, encourage and lift me and others. I choose to be grateful today. I choose not to be critical or judgmental of myself or others.

My family is blessed. They're saved, healed and protected from the attacks of the enemy. My children will serve God all the days of their lives. They're a blessing to me and I am to them.

I have great relationship with everyone I meet. I have a relaxed, easy going attitude. I'm not selfish. People like me and I'm liked by others. Good things will come my way today.

My health is in great shape. I believe in divine health that Jesus purchased on the cross for me and my family. By His stripes I am healed. But I will also take responsibility to eat right, exercise and get enough sleep. I will respect my body which is God's temple.

I'm surrounded with prosperity. Everything I do today will prosper. I'm blessed financially because I honor the Lord with my tithes and offerings. I'm a generous person and I respond to the needs of others quickly. I am redeemed from the curse of poverty. I have the mindset of abundance. I have more than enough for myself and plenty left over to bless the world. I will be proactive to save and invest in the future.

Today I will acknowledge God in all my ways. I will look for opportunities to share the Gospel with people I meet. My perspective is eternal and my life is significant.

Heavenly Father, help me this day to please you in all my ways. Give me the power to live the Holy life. I need you Lord. With you I can do all things. In Jesus' Name, Amen!
